Help your community, build career skills and earn money with the Work Experience Program.

How It Works

We're here to help individuals who've been temporarily or permanently laid off as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic. The WEX program connects qualified participants to non-profit organizations with projects that have a focus on providing food, clothing, shelter and other humanitarian help.

Participants get paid (up to $15/hour) for community service positions to learn new skills, boost their resume and help their community move forward.
